President Nixon congratulates SPH on 'don't smoke' program

President Richard M. Nixon sent congratulations to the School of Public Health for its efforts to inform school children of the hazards involved in cigarette smoking, according to Wilbur K. Nelson, PhD, chairman of the department of health education.

A letter to Dr. Nelson from the surgeon general of the U.S. Public Health Service, William H. Stewart, said that "President Nixon has asked me to thank you for your telegram and to congratulate your department and the public health students of Loma Linda University."

The surgeon general stated further that current "information is that young people in this country are no longer taking up cigarette smoking to the extent they were a few years ago."

The President and the surgeon general were not the only ones to express appreciation for the program presented by the public health students to over 3,000 students in the Redlands Unified School District.

Dozens of fourth through sixth graders wrote to the School of Public Health expressing their appreciation for the program. Following are a few letters (unedited) from the children:

We are glad that you came to teach us about smoking habits. I know a boy about 9 years old. His brothers smoked but did not want him to smoke. One time he saw a man drop a half-smoked cigarette. So he pretended to tie his shoe and pick-

An estimated 6,000 people listen to University of California at Irvine chancellor Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., PhD, deliver the commencement address to 550 graduating Loma Linda University students last Sunday.

550 students receive diplomas, hear UC Irvine chancellor speak

Five-hundred-fifty Loma Linda University students received degrees at the annual commencement ceremonies held at the Anaheim Convention Center, Anaheim, last Sunday.

Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., PhD, chancellor of the University of California at Irvine, challenged every graduate to "instill within himself a sense of values and the courage with which to defend them."

"Such a sense of values derives from an ability to discriminate not only right and wrong, but also between the significant and the trivial, between that which is cheap and shoddy, and that which has integrity and beauty."

"To put the matter in another way, an educated person should have a well-developed and refined good taste which he uses as a yardstick in making his moral, social, and aesthetic judgments."

Approximately 6,000 people listened as Dr. Aldrich delivered his address, "The Responsibilities of an Educated Man."

"The university should try to instill in every student, as a kind of residuum of the whole educational process, what I have called a developed sense of good taste — one that, in its turn, will cause the possessor consciously and responsibly to adopt certain codes of action and certain standards of value."

The Sunday commencement exercises was the University's

Two School of Nursing juniors leave for Thailand mission

Two School of Nursing juniors leave San Francisco next Sunday for southern Thailand where they will serve as student missionaries.

Cheryl D. Gardner and Ardeth J. Truitt will spend eight weeks working on public health projects at the new 40-bed Phuket Mission Hospital.

A special fund established by the School of Nursing Alumni Association provided Miss Truitt with $1,000 for traveling expenses. Miss Gardner's trip is being privately financed. The Thai mission station will provide them room and board during their stay.

Miss Truitt who lived in Bangkok, Thailand, for five years speaks the Thai language.

The two will visit Hawaii and Japan enroute to Thailand and return by way of Singapore.

Persons interested in helping future School of Nursing student missionaries may make a specific donation to the School of Nursing Alumni Association, Loma Linda University, Loma Linda, California 92354.

Purchasing agent retires July 1

University purchasing agent Dean Mentzel has announced his retirement effective July 1, according to Robert L. Cone, vice president for financial affairs.

Replacing Mr. Mentzel who has been purchasing agent since 1953, will be Glenn Freeberg, manager of the University Supply. Succeeding Mr. Freeberg will be Fred C. Christensen, assistant manager of the University Supply.

Vocational nursing students graduated

Fifteen Loma Linda University Hospital students of vocational nursing received certificates of completion at graduation ceremonies held last month.

The students who completed the 54-week program obtained practical experience from work with medical and surgical patients of all ages, work in doctors' offices, and duty in the recovery and emergency rooms as well as all other areas of the hospital, says Alice K. Kuhn, director of the program.

The vocational nursing program last March received full accreditation by the California State Board of Vocational Nursing and Psychiatric Technician Examiners.

A second 20-member vocational nursing class began studies last January.

U. S. Congressman establishes irrevocable trust with LLU

United States Congressman Jerry L. Pettis, a former University official, recently released complete details of his financial affairs including all his holdings and income from sources other than his Congressional salary.

The key feature in the Pettis holdings is an irrevocable trust he established with the University early last year. Its present value is listed at $1,332,052.90.

"There are two reasons for my establishing this trust," Mr. Pettis said. "One, the job of a congressman is more than a full time job. Secondly, one of the best ways a man can contribute to his community is to establish something that will go on helping people long after he is gone."

Mr. Pettis has been a friend and supporter of the University for many years, according to David J. Bieber, University president.

"We believe that he has acted in a generous and responsible manner and has thereby shown how individuals can act creatively in the disposition of their assets," Mr. Bieber said.

Five in one family graduate from LLU, local LL academy

Graduating is a family affair for the Johnson family. Five of the six-member Dr. Gilbert H. Johnson family, of 24671 Lawton Avenue, Loma Linda, graduate this June.

The list of diplomas to be received in that family reads almost like a list of "what's what in American education."

Three of the Johnson were granted degrees by Loma Linda University on June 1: Paul G., 24, eldest son, graduated from the School of Medicine with a doctor of medicine (MD) degree; Mark D., 21, from the College of Arts and Sciences with a bachelor of arts (BA) degree; and Mrs. Johnson from the School of Public Health with a master of public health (MPH) degree. Twins Elizabeth A., and James V., 18, will receive high school diplomas

$959,970 research grant awarded to School of Dentistry

A $959,970 grant has been awarded to the School of Dentistry by the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare, according to Edwin M. Collins, DDS, associate dean for research affairs.

The grant, scheduled to be distributed over a four-year period, will finance the training of dental students to use dental auxiliary personnel more effectively.

Common goals

If a common denominator can be found in the uncommonly effective speeches directed to students, parents, and teachers during commencement weekend, it is a tone of authentic concern that graduates relate realistically and constructively to a rapidly changing world.

Harold M. S. Richards of the Voice of Prophecy set the stage in his vesper service homily at Loma Linda with reaffirmations of faith in man's ultimate salvation and restitution. Harold M. S. Richards, Jr. who spoke on the La Sierra campus, underscored the resourcefulness of a faithful and provident God.

Theologian Leslie Hardinge from Pacific Union College, Angwin, spoke with characteristic clarity in his commencement sermon to students at La Sierra, of the value of settled thinking in matters of basic faith. "With all the important emphasis on learning and growth these days," he declared, "we need also to recognize the value of established concepts in areas of faith and morals."

Dr. William A. Loveless, pastor of the Sligo Seventh-day Adventist Church in Washington, D.C., called on graduates at Loma Linda to face up to the challenge of the big cities, where two-thirds of America's people live. There has, he said, been too much apathy toward reaching city dwellers with healing, redemptive action. Genuine, unhesitating involvement is essential if the church is to fulfill its mission.

Commencement speaker Daniel G. Aldrich, Chancellor of the University of California at Irvine, pointed out to graduates that the times demand values that discriminate "not only right and wrong but also between the significant and the trivial — between that which is cheap and shoddy and that which has integrity and beauty."

President Nixon, in a letter read by University President David J. Bieber, challenged graduates to bring new qualities of leadership and service to their nation in a time of unprecedented challenge.

The many and varied components of the corporate organism that give an institution of higher learning its life and character would find in these thoughtful presentations food for thought and fuel for positive action.

SPH assistant dean appointed to army advisory committee

Assistant dean of the School of Public Health Richard T. Walden, MD, has been appointed to the civilian advisory committee of the United States Sixth Army.

The five-member advisory committee was formed to give advice regarding control of meningitis epidemic.

University Hospital receives three-year accreditation

Three-year accreditation has been granted Loma Linda University Hospital by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

A survey conducted by Jerry A. Clapp, Jr., MD, of the commission's board of commissioners, was made of requirements and standards peculiar to university hospitals.

The report observed that "the administration and medical staff merit commendation for an efficient organization and for the evidence of high quality care given to patients."

Thirty-seven Venezuela-bound Peace Corps girls are receiving practical health instruction and training from School of Public Health professors.

Six faculty members are participating in 50 hours of lectures being presented in Escondido.

JDA contributes to LL flood victims

The Junior Dental Auxiliary presented $50 apiece to wives of students whose homes were rather heavily damaged by the February floods, according to Mrs. Donald D. Sandquist, first semester president of the JDA.

The money was given to the women with the stipulation that it was to be spent on themselves, not on their house or family.

President's awards distributed to eight LLU honor students

University president David J. Bieber presented eight outstanding students with annual "President's Awards" recently. The students represented each of the University's eight schools.

Selected for the high awards were M. Priscilla Philips, School of Health Related Professions; S. Jane Earnest, School of Nursing; Richard H. Cales, College of Arts and Sciences; Lawrence W. Will, School of Dentistry; William C. Patton, School of Medicine; L. Charles Shultz, School of Public Health; Darlene K. Circle, School of Education; and George Maeda, Graduate School.

The students were selected for their "superior scholastic attainment and active participation in the student community within the framework of Christian commitment," according to President Bieber.

Letters

To the Editor

Editor's note: The following letter refers to an advertisement that appeared in the May 14 issue of University SCOPE.

Dear Editor:

Mini-skirts are immodest and are not an aid but a deterrent to morality.

I object to immodest ads being used in the paper of a school which should be teaching modesty by precept and example.

I'm for old-fashioned standards, old-fashioned morality, and old-fashioned religion.

We find it taught in an old-fashioned book — the Bible.

Pastor, Athol SDA Church
Athol, Massachusetts

Dear Editor:

May I take this opportunity through the University SCOPE to express to the University our very great appreciation for the music of the chimes which ushers in and ushers out the Sabbath each week in Loma Linda.

I am sure that I express the sentiments of all the Adventists in the community and of others as well when I state that the ringing out of the chimes in the tones of beloved hymns of the Christian world is a beautiful way to begin and end the precious hours of the holy Sabbath.

We appreciate the University's making this feature of "Loma Linda life" available to the community.

Mrs. Alfred W. Peterson

Commencement '69

An estimated 6,000 people attended traditional commencement services for over 550 students from the University's eight schools last Sunday at the Anaheim Convention Center, Anaheim.

Speaker at the commencement service was Daniel G. Aldrich, Jr., PhD, chancellor of the University of California at Irvine.

Dr. Aldrich was formerly research chemist at the University of California at Riverside. He is currently chairman of the advisory committee to the Agriculture Research Center at Stanford.

Separate services for the two campuses were held at the University Church, Loma Linda, and The College Church, La Sierra, Friday evening and Saturday morning.

Alumni News

Anna Brehmer Engleberg, '34, writes that the Adventist Medical Center, Naha Okinawa, is busy continually. The baptism of 25 converts in the China Sea made all the hard work very worthwhile. "Such a beautiful scene as the sun sank low on a late Sabbath afternoon," writes Ann. "The Evert Erwin Kuesters, SM'58, who are now in Loma Linda, spent five years here and did a wonderful job," she adds.

Emma Binder, '29, writes of the rapid growth of the mission program in Malawi, East Africa. Upgrading the School of Nursing at the Malamulo Hospital and Leprosarium to meet new standards is one of the greatest concerns. Bethel Wareham, '46, director of the school, mentioned specifically the school's need for a human model. The missions committee of the School of Nursing Alumni Association recently voted to fill this request out of their allotment of funds this year.

Marilyn Unsell Kelln, '62, and her husband, Kenneth, SM'64, find themselves alone in the bush hospital in Jengre, Nigeria. Occasional visits from Marilyn's parents, Dr. and Mrs. David H. Unsell, SM'30, (serving as a relief surgeon in Ghana) are high points.

Esther M. Oldham, '54, has arrived safely in Singapore where she is director of nursing service at the Youngberg Memorial Hospital.

Teresa Holland Lindstrom, GS'62, writes from Ile Ife, Nigeria that "mission service is all that I thought it would be and more. The challenge is tremendous. People are courteous but they don't run out to us and ask for conversation. One must sell himself and his religion. I must learn the Yoruba language.

Many speak English, but very haltingly and they do not feel comfortable in it. With my heavy work load, the learning of Yoruba will be difficult."

Mrs. Lindstrom is in charge of the dietary service, the laundry, and ward housekeeping, and teaches three hours of nutrition weekly. "As I tramp through the latrines each morning inspecting basins and floors, my lip curls at the pools which I must walk through with my sandals. Why should a graduate nurse not inspect latrines? They are very important part of nursing care and the national nurses will have as little as possible to do with them." Teresa adds a fervent request for prayer for her ministry in Ile Ife.

Cordelia P. Reynolds, '24, director of nursing service at Penang Sanitarium and Hospital, Penang, Malaysia, writes that "the biggest frustration to me is the language barrier. I have been here about a year. Penang will always provide for a delightful memory of coconut groves, luxuriant trees, and orchids. The hospital is a lovely institution. We have just remodeled our central service quarters with a work room, an office for the charge nurse, and a stock room. We also have a new nursing station, have painted much of the hospital, and have bought new office equipment."

A PREVIEW OFFER OF

Property at a private mountain lake

Recently a mountain lake estate in the Big Bear area was divided into a limited number of view properties.

You are offered through Loma Linda University SCOPE a preview inspection of Lake William Estates, and first selection of all choice view sites.

- ☆ Lake William Estates is fully developed. It has fine paved roads, piped-in water, electric power, and telephones ready for use now.
- ☆ The lake and all year-round facilities will be reserved exclusively for property owners.
- ☆ There are only 67 estates in this unit — no more.
- ☆ Seventh-day Adventist church services are conducted each Sabbath in the Big Bear Area.

In addition to immediate enjoyment of this pine-rimmed property and sparkling lake, you will find it an excellent land investment. It is a private lake property in the mountains near Los Angeles. Water-oriented resort land is in short supply in Southern California; it has shown an astounding annual rise in value.

The popular slopes of Rebel Ridge and Moonridge are a ten minute drive: Snow Summit and Snow Valley are only a bit further.

ed up the cigarette. Then he went in a alley to smoke it. Then he lighted a match and began to smoke the cigarette. Then he began to get dizzy and fell. Then his brother awakened him and said that he would tell. My father is 37 years old and from that time on he has never smoked and my mother does not smoke.

Louis

If your lungs get dirty by smoking then you will have more lungs put in. If you didn't smoke your lungs will not get dirty. The best thing you should do is not to smoke. If you smoke your heart will beat harder.

Cindy

I sure did like your speech about smoking. I want to ask you some questions. Why do they have to make cicarkettes with tar? Who ever started cicarkettes? Why do they keep making cigarettes if people know its no good? Why do they keep smoking? Why doesn't the president stop letting them make cicarkettes?

Thank you for the nice experiment with your pal Sam (Smoking Sam). I enjoyed it very much.

When I got home I told my father about it and he said "I can't stop because I am so use to it that I can't stop." And I said, "Well, at least it's worth a try." And he said, "No, no, with a capital NO!" So I gave up and went to bed. I tried. All you have to do is try.

Mary Lou

Thank you for coming to our classroom and showing us Sam. My brother says he will stop smoking when my mom stops. About three years ago my dad got TB. My mom says "its because he smokes too much." My other brother just started smoking. My sister went to Disneyland once and smoked "Pot." I found this out by looking through my desk and it said "Me and Gary went to Disneyland last week and smoked "Pot." Boy did we get stoned!" That letter was never mailed. She should of burned it, but she just left it in our desk.

Mary

Thank you for the nice conversation. I already promised my mom that I will never smoke a single cigarette in my whole life. Both of my parents smoke and I've been telling them what happens when you smoke. I was surprised when I saw how much tar and nicoteem gets into your lungs.

Carol

I would like to ask you some questions on smoking. I was the girl who asked why they make cigarettes. My big brother smokes and he can not run so fast. My first question. Can the

School of Medicine receives $25,900 grant from AMA

A check for $25,900 has been presented to the School of Medicine by the American Medical Association, according to David B. Hinshaw, MD, dean of the school.

Nicholas Krikes, MD, who presided at the County Medical Society meeting at Norton Air Force Base said the funds will be used to further programs of medical education.

The money was made available from the American Medical Association's Research and Education Foundation.

president stop the people from smoking cigarettes? . . . Smoking is not good for you right? Can you stop smoking? People die by smoking right?

Yolanda

Thank you very much for talking to us about smoking. I have made up my mind about smoking the answer is I'm not going to smoke.

Thank you for getting it through my head how bad cigarette smoking is for you. I told my dad how bad cigarette smoking is for you and how bad it hurts the body. I asked him please to stop but all he said was, "I'll try, but its not that
